An Independent Public School

LAWLEY UPDATE Term 1 2013 No. 3, 2013

The first month of the 2013 school year is now behind us and students are well and truly into the "swing of education." In the Senior School subject changes have closed unless parents negotiate with Mr Johnston. All students should be focused on their program and working to achieve their best.

The traditional Year 8 welcome BBQ was held last week with the usual very good attendance. Parents new or returning to Year 8 had the opportunity to meet with staff and discuss the protocols of Middle School operations as well as teachers appreciating the qualities of their new students. The Year 10 BBQ is scheduled for next Wednesday (13 March 2013) and commences at 5:00pm. I hope that Year 10 parents are able to attend.

The school's Swimming Carnival was held on Wednesday just gone. It was a well attended event with many students enjoying the competitive racing and "games" approach to engage as many as possible in the day. Thanks to Mr Howard and the HPE staff for delivery the carnival.

The winning house was Hackett and congratulations are extended to the House's swimmers.

The annual Music/Languages Soiree was the social event of the past fortnight and the many parents attending enjoyed the evening. Thanks to all for attending and the teachers who joined the event to meet parents. A special thank you is extended to former parent, Mrs Sue Faranda who played the leading role in managing the Soiree. Thanks also to the Music Support Committee Convenor, Mr Tony Reed and Language Committee Convenor, Mr Niall Kilcullen for their great support. Other parents who made a great contribution were Ms Kay Maccione, Ms Jan Uridge, Ms Nerissa Berry and Ms Melanie Wood. A great result and the efforts of all are very much appreciated.

The SVAPA Information evening for prospective 2014 students was also conducted this week. Potential parents had the opportunity to hear about the program and to ask questions about the selection process and the conduct of the program itself. Thanks to Dr Irving for leading the planning of the evening.

As parents read this Update the Year 12 cohort will be preparing for the student social event of the year, the School Ball. Much preparation goes into this event and this is a shared task between the students and several staff. Thanks to Ms Tempone and her team for the night. A report will appear in the next Update

HOUSE SWIMMING CARNIVAL

Pertussis (Whooping Cough) Fact Sheet

Pertussis (or whooping cough) affects people of all ages, but it is most serious in infants, especially those under 6 months of age who are too young to be fully vaccinated. Immunisation is an effective way to protect people against pertussis, and it is particularly important that children receive all 5 scheduled doses of pertussis vaccine (at 2, 4 and 6 months of age, with booster doses at 4 years of age, and in Year 7 of primary school). In addition, it is recommended that adults who live or work with young children should have pertussis vaccine.

What is pertussis?

Pertussis (or whooping cough) is a disease caused by infection of the respiratory tract with the bacterium Bordetella pertussis.

What are the symptoms?

- Pertussis usually begins just like a cold, with a runny nose, tiredness and sometimes a mild fever.
- Coughing then develops, which may occur in bouts, sometimes followed by a deep gasp (or “whoop”), especially in unvaccinated children. People may vomit after a bout of coughing.
- Pertussis can be very serious in young children, especially those under 6 months of age. Complications can include pneumonia, brain damage from lack of oxygen suffered during bouts of coughing, and death.
- Older children and adults tend to have a less serious illness, but they can still have persistent coughing that may continue for several weeks, regardless of treatment.

How is it spread?

Pertussis is spread to other people by droplets from coughing or sneezing. Untreated, a person with pertussis can spread it to other people for up to three weeks after onset of cough.

The time between exposure and getting sick is usually seven to ten days, but can be up to three weeks.

Who is at risk?

- Anyone can get pertussis.
- People living in the same household as someone with pertussis are most likely to become infected.
- Immunisation greatly reduces the risk of infection, but immunity wanes over time, and infection may still occur.

How is it prevented?

- Make sure children are up-to-date with their pertussis vaccines.
- Children need to be immunised at 2, 4 and 6 months of age, but can start as early as six weeks during an outbreak of pertussis
- Booster doses of pertussis vaccine are recommended at 3 ½ to 4 years of age prior to school entry, and at 12 – 13 years (in the year 8 school-based program),
- Vaccination is also recommended for adults planning a pregnancy; parents of infants and other household carers, including grand-parents; and for adults who work with young children, including child-care workers and health-care workers.
- Immunisation is available through general practitioners; some local council immunisation clinics, community health immunisation centres and through the Year 8 school-based vaccination program.
- The vaccine does not give lifelong protection against pertussis, and protection is sometimes incomplete (not completed vaccination series).

Pertussis (Whooping Cough) Fact Sheet

Keep babies away from people who cough

Babies need to complete two or three doses of vaccine before they are protected. For this reason, it is very important to keep babies away from people with coughing illnesses to reduce the risk of them being infected.

Get immunised if you are an adult in close contact with small children

A vaccine for adults is available but not funded. It is recommended for:

- both parents when planning a pregnancy, or as soon as possible after the baby is born
- grandparents and others who will have close contact with the baby
- adults working with young children, especially health-care and child-care workers

If you have pertussis:

- People diagnosed with pertussis should stay away from school and work while infectious (up to 21 days) or until they have completed 5 days of a course of a recommended antibiotic. It is particularly important not to expose young children (child care centres, pre-school) to infection.

How is pertussis diagnosed?

If a doctor considers that you could have pertussis infection, a swab from the back of the nose or throat, and/or a blood specimen may be collected to help confirm the diagnosis.

How is it treated?

A recommended antibiotic – usually azithromycin for 5 days, or erythromycin or clarithromycin for 7 days is used to treat pertussis. These antibiotics can prevent the spread of the infection to other people.

People often continue coughing for many weeks despite treatment, but they are no longer infectious after 21 days, or after completing a five day course of antibiotics.

What is the public health response?

Doctors and laboratories must confidentially notify cases of pertussis to the local Public Health Unit. Public Health Unit staff may then provide advice on the best way to prevent further spread of infection. This may include exclusion from child-care of well children who have not completed their course of pertussis vaccination or a recommended preventive antibiotic.

MIRRABOOKA HARMONY EVENTS

The organising committee of Mirrabooka Harmony Events cordially invite you to the two Harmony events taking place this year. Celebrating Harmony Week is vital in recognising the positive contribution we all receive from our diverse population. We would be delighted if you could promote the events to your students and their parents and join us at the following;

From 2pm to 7.30pm on Saturday the 16th of March we are hosting a Festival Event at the Stirling Civic Gardens. The Festival event will feature a range of well known artists presenting cultural performances along with some up and coming local acts, there will also be activities for children and young people to enjoy.

From 10am to 2pm on Friday 22nd March we are hosting a Harmony Event at the Mirrabooka Square shopping centre. This event will showcase performances from local school choirs and talented local artists.

Harmony Day has been celebrated in Mirrabooka for a number of years and has grown to include the support and participation of many community organisations, Government and non-Government agencies, schools and cultural groups. This year with the aim of spreading the harmony message we have been able to obtain funds from the Office of Multi Cultural Interest and City of Stirling to host a larger event at the Stirling Civic Gardens. It is our hope that by engaging people in projects, activities and events that celebrate the diverse range of cultures in the City of Stirling and surrounding suburbs we can bring the broad community together to share common interests, be entertained by the varied talents of local communities, promote a positive image local communities along with shared understanding and admiration.

We look forward to your attendance.
